BIO

Andrew Gutierrez is a theatrically trained Stage Manager and Show Caller based in Austin, Texas. He has been involved with large scale productions and musicals for the last 5+ years. His background in theatrical stage management and design enables him to thrive in the client-driven environment while creatively managing the big picture and accurately balancing the details.

Andrew immersed himself into the world of events, working both remotely and in a variety of venues. From his extensive and uniquely designed remote setup, he has the capacity to orchestrate virtual productions, including pre-recording and streaming. Andrew is committed to investigating and integrating new technology and systems to innovate and build his knowledge base. He is an experienced communicator, building relationships within diverse processes and employing the power of effective teams.

Andrew is based in San Diego, CA and loves to travel, spend time with his dog and his family, and explore coffee shops around the world.
